The Making Of
I␣ve always liked the idea of creating experiences for the web. Nowaday s,💶 almost every mobile and desktop device has a web browser and visitor s can experience your creation without the friction of💶 downloading and installing a separate app. Prior to creating Vortelli␣s, I dabbled with tools li ke Three.js, Phaser and Construct, but💶 I never actually completed a pro ject. I kept falling into the cycle of starting a project with excitement and mo tivation💶 but as I␣d encounter problems, I␣d gradually lose interest and eventually quit.

In mid-2024, I promised myself that I was going💶 to break that cycle by finishing and releasing a 3D multiplayer web game. I still wasn␣t profi cient with any particular💶 game engine and I spent many hours reading an d watching YouTube videos trying to decide on the perfect engine. I💶 eve ntually figured out that there was no such thing as a perfect engine and I reall y just needed to pick💶 one, learn the basics and start building. I ended up choosing PlayCanvas because I was already pretty comfortable with JavaScript 💶 and I found its editor very simple to use.

I spent the majority of my time figuring out how to get💶 the mu ltiplayer netcode working. At first, the prototype game didn␣t have any sort of goal or objective, it was just💶 an open world where you could hang out w ith other players. Maybe it was because I␣m a solo dev, but💶 I started t o feel that players would quickly become bored with this experience. Some kind o f minigame needed to be💶 added to give players a sense of purpose. I wen t with a pizza cooking minigame because everyone loves pizza, right?💶 I chose the name ␣Vortelli␣s Pizza,␣ because it sounds like the name of a somewhat believable pizza shop and I💶 couldn␣t find any real life businesses on Google using that name already.
