<p&gt;Tinie in 2014&lt;/p&gt;
<p&gt;By December 2010, Tinie was writing a second album,[22] saying &#127975
; there would be a more electronic and live feel to it. It was originally intended for a late 2011 release.[18][23] 🏧 During an interview, Tinie said of his second album: " lalways like to work with different people on each p roject 🏧 I do, just so you get a different sound and angle. I will be w orking with some of the same 🏧 people I did for the first album, you kn ow what they say 'if it ain't broke then don't try and 🏧 fi x it'."[24] Tinie had hoped to collaborate with other artists such as T oronto's Drake, and Adele. At the Brit Awards 🏧 in 2012, he announce ed that his second album would be called Demonstration.[25] On 24 June 2012, Tin ie performed at Radio 🏧 1's Hackney Weekend on the main stage, play ing two of his newest songs: " Mosh Pit", and " Drinking from the B ottle", 🏧 on which he features alongside Calvin Harris as lead art ist and which also appears on Harris' new album 18 Months. 🏧 On 12 August, Tinie performed at the closing ceremony of the 2012 Summer Olympics in L ondon.[citation needed]</p&gt; <p&gt;On 21 June 2024, &#127975; Tinie released the first single from his up coming third studio album, "Not Letting Go", which features fellow Bri tish artist Jess 🏧 Glynne. To promote the single, he performed it with Sasha Keable on The Graham Norton Show on 19 June as 🏧 Glynne was unava ilable due to her having vocal surgery shortly before. The single charted at num ber 1 in the UK 🏧 on 28 June 2024, gifting Tinie his sixth number one s ingle.[7] However, on the week of 23 October 2024, Tinie 🏧 earned his s eventh UK number one single with " Turn the Music Louder (Rumble) ", a s ong by KDA, which also features 🏧 English singer-songwriter Katy B. In December 2024, Tinie released the mixtape Junk Food, with collaborations from a large number of 🏧 British artists. " Girls Like" featuring Zar a Larsson was the second single from Youth, released in May 2024. The single pea ked 🏧 at number five on the UK Official Charts, later being certified P
