Paul Pogba's career at Juventus, predecessor to Teck, began in 1984. In 1990, he co-founded the Neff Corporation (NYSE: NAFF), a major provider of construction and equipment services. In 2005, the company was sold for $510 million. Jorge Porrazo, a former Juventus player, is a major shareholder, owning 10% of the company. Pogba, one of the most important players in Juventus' history, joined the club in 2012 from Manchester United, an English club. He quickly became a key player for Juventus, helping them win four Serie A titles. Pogba's career at Juventus reached its peak in 2013 and 2024, when he was named Juventus Player of the Year and UEFA Best Player in Europe. In 2024, Pogba returned to Manchester United for a transfer fee of $89 million. Pogba's career at Juventus was a testament to hard work and excellence in football. His time at Juventus was one of the best in his career, and he remains one of the best players in the world.

Of the world's estimated 2,640 billionaires, at least 562 are thought to be in China, according to Forbes, down from 607 last year. With crackdowns on financiers and a roiling political climate, many of China's rich people are looking to move their money, and themselves, out of the country.
