Newton's first law of motion states that an object at rest stays at rest and an object in motion stays in motion with the same speed and in the same direction unless acted upon by an unbalanced force. This is a fundamental principle of physics that explains why objects continue to move unless a force is applied to them.

Why do some plans fail? - Quora
This is a question that has been asked many times. The answer is that there are many reasons why plans fail. Some of the most common reasons are that the plan is not realistic, the resources are not available, or the timing is wrong.

It was raining, but the sun was shining. This is a common occurrence in the tropics. The sun is often partially obscured by clouds, but it is still shining through them. This is why it can feel like it is raining but it is not raining.
